

GENERIC REPLACEMENT CELL WARRANTY CMARHY SERIES SALT CELLS

CaliMar warrants the generic replacement cell for a period of three (3) full years (commercial installations for a period of 12 months). Due to CaliMar product's long life, high performance electrodes the warranty is in effect from the date of manufacturing for a period of three (3) years (commercial installations for a period of 12 months).

It is important to highlight that all of CaliMar's generic replacement cells never place users at any additional safety risk. At no time when installing a CaliMar salt cell will the user come in contact with the AC voltage. All of CaliMar's replacement cells run off DC power, which cannot electrocute the installer. This is known as the secondary side or the low voltage side. CaliMar has also embarked on an independent laboratory testing for safety and quality of manufacture on our range of generic replacement cells, emphasizing our pledge to the highest safety and quality standards.

To highlight our commitment to the aftermarket salt chlorination business we will be providing the following warranties for all replacement cells supplied by CaliMar:

- CaliMar will warranty any genuine warranty claim that the original manufacturer voids due to a direct problem arising from the use of a CaliMar generic replacement cell.
- All CaliMar generic replacement cells will provide a minimum three year warranty, in most cases exceeding the original manufacturer's original unit and replacement parts warranties.
